ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to a video Effect editing method of automatically preparing/editing Movie Atom having Effect track by an instruction such that user pushes down a button for a time period during which he desires to implement Effect during Movie recording and/or reproducing, etc., the video Effect editing method comprises: accepting an input by user to prepare plural management information different in reproduction purpose such as original Movie and Movie to which Effect has been implemented to the Movie at the time of recording video data in performing edit function of preparation and deletion of Effect track, and preparation, processing and deletion of Effect track period within the Effect track.